

TASS

Training Agenda 2018

Crew Sail Training Sessions scheduled for the Saturdays August 11 and October 13. Both days will include a classroom and on the water portion, and are aimed at both current members who want to hone their sailing skills, as well as to invite potential new members to get a taste of sailing on the bay and join us as members. John Klumb and Urs Rathgeb will jointly act as instructors during these classes.

Since we want to make certain that everyone will be able to actively participate during the classes, the number of people on the boat will be limited. This is also an ideal opportunity to invite friends who are not currently members of the club and always wanted to go sailing, but felt they first wanted to acquire some basic skills.

Cost: Members $65.00 Non-Members $80.00

Details can be found on the TASS Calendar of event at the web www.sailtass.com

Registration in advance is required via our online calendar.

Crew Training I August 11

The first day on August 11 will include a classroom session in the morning during which we will go over basic terminology and sailing theory, while during the afternoon, we will sail on various points of sail while keeping the sails appropriately trimmed and train tacking and jibing efficiently. Of course, everyone will have the opportunity to do so at various crew positions, including helm. Of course, we will also go through docking and undocking maneuvers. Sign up at Crew Training I on the events calendar.

Crew Training II October 13

The second session on October 13 is intended as an advanced session. In the morning, we will cover essential knots for sailing use as well as basic navigation rules in the channels and on the bay. During the afternoon on the water, in addition to brushing up the skills trained in the Crew Training I course, we will cover some additional maneuvers and activities (heaving to, reefing, anchoring), as well as more advanced sail trim (how to read tell tales, using the traveler, moving jib cars, etc.). Sign up at Crew Training II on the events calendar..

CPR & First Aid November 11

CPR and First Aid Training scheduled for November 11. Once again, every couple of years, we have scheduled a CPR and First Aid training class, both to offer our active skippers a way to keep their certification (which TASS requires them to have) as well as an opportunity for other interested club members and guests to keep their skills current. This class will be handled by Marylin McFarlane, who has conducted this classes for us in previous years. Sign up at CPR & First Aid Training
